

Film Program Seeks Technical Help for On-Line Screenings

The Hoffman Center is looking for a volunteer knowledgeable about setting up a film-screening program on the Internet.

For the past several years, the Center has been a popular venue for showing films – features, documentaries, and shorts – from throughout the Pacific Northwest, but Covid-19 shut down our traditional monthly events inside the Center.

We can still get independent films and show them on-line, but the technical details of setting that up elude our Film Program Leader.

The idea is to have a special on-line “channel” and organize on-demand screenings of specific PNW films or sets of shorts. Viewers would have to pay to watch.

If you know how to do this, and would be willing to set up a system to do it from the Hoffman Center – as another of our great volunteers – please contact the Film Program Lead – Dave Dillon – at dillond@nehalem.tel.net

Thank you.
