

Manzanita Writers' Series Presents — Poetry Class

In this six-session online class we will take our inspiration from the poetry anthology How To Love the World, edited by James Crews. It is a beautifully curated collection that reminds us how to find gratitude and hope in ordinary moments of living.

Each session will include a close read and discussion of several poems from the anthology.

How to Love the World—a poetry class

All on Zoom

April 10, 24, May 8, 22

June 5, 19 | 10am–Noon

$150 for Full Class (limit 8 students)

$75 to Audit

Register at: hoffmanarts.org

About Emily

Emily Ransdell published her debut collection, One Finch Singing, in June 2023. Her poems have appeared in Poetry Northwest, Poet Lore, Tar River Poetry, Terrain, River Styx, CALYX, American Life in Poetry, and elsewhere. She has been a finalist for the Rattle Poetry Prize and the New Millennium Writing Award. She divides her time between Camas, Washington and Manzanita, Oregon, where she has taught poetry classes at the Hoffman Center for the Arts. In addition to teaching, Emily is an active volunteer in the Hoffman Center's writing program.

